

High Low Logic Index is calculated using the minimum number between the lows and highs each week on the NYSE, then dividing by the total issues traded.